GOVERNOR DISCUSSES STATE'S DEVELOPMENT

GREATEST ERA OF PROSPERITY AND GROWTH STATE HAS EVER KNOWN.

(By Clifford Walker, Governor)
 I quote, that most appropriate of all slogans: "It's great to be a Georgian"—more appropriate today than it was in past generations, because Georgia is greater.

In another generation it will be greater than it is today, greater because at no time has the state of Georgia ever been on the threshold of such an era of prosperity and growth and expansion as today, and ever has it been characteristic of the people of this great state that opportunity was never permitted to approach her doors and find them closed. Greater because of those of us who today hold the destinies of our state in our keeping are making of her a greater place for our children, as our forefathers made it for us in their day.

There is today sweeping over this state not only a reawakening of industrial and commercial activity; a dawning realization among the people of other states of the broad possibilities of agricultural endeavor on Georgia lands, but even the pessimist who is hiding in the shadow of his own pessimism must be swept on with the tide of optimism which can but flow from the staunch determination among our people to strengthen and broaden and elevate that bulwark of our Republic, our educational system. And with that determination there is moving forward already, as a trail-blazer to our greater future, wonderful preparation for the construction of arteries of transportation extending into what have heretofore been remote places in our state.

Great highways and equal educational facilities on a broader scale are today moving throughout the state shoulder to shoulder. It will be the now almost assured realization of these two things, within the next few years that will make it a truism for the coming generation to amend that appropriate slogan of today, and have it say: "It's Greater to be a Georgian."

It has been my observation, after traveling the state from one end to the other and from one side to the other, and conferring with the people in all part of the state, that Georgians have never felt so earnest a purpose to broaden, better and enlarge their educational facilities and system as today. At no time in my mature years have I been able to recall a time when "education" has been an issue as it is today; not only a political, but a personal issue with that feeling of responsibility resting consciously upon the individual which has brought home to his mind and heart his own part, as it has now become his desire, in this forward movement. Ten thousand school teachers with local organizations in every county in the state are co-operating with and gaining co-operation from an even more numerous organization of the mothers and fathers of children who are this year crowding our public schools as never before. Indeed, the motherhood of Georgia, as represented by that organization—the Parent-Teachers' association—has inspired in the business men, the banker, the playman, the skilled artisan, and even in the politician an acknowledgement to his state as well as to himself that we are continuing to build all else upon sand unless the solid foundation of education is laid under our home structure, our business organization, our state government and finally that our part to our country as a whole is insecure without the accomplishment of this great purpose.

There are many indications of growth, expansion and development in front of Georgia, but the full fruition of them all is so interwoven with this essential of our everyday life, and so well have our people come to realize it, I would say, if I were asked to name the one outstanding determination in the minds of our people at this time, my reply would be—not good roads, for we can not attain the other desire without them; not good churches, for the realization of this desire would make more and better churches; not great manufacturing and industrial enterprises, for they could not prosper to their fullest without what I have in mind. I would say: "It is educational expansion and equalization." An expansion, not necessarily of more school houses and colleges, but more education and more educational facilities in them and making them easier to access of all children. An expansion not of addition solely to the units we now have, but an expansion of education itself to reach in equal distribution the child in the heart of the most populous city in the state just as it reaches to the most humble cottage of the man in the country, and in reverse order.

It is this condition which the Georgia of today is approaching; it is the vision of the thinking man on the city streets and his brother in the barnyard, the dairy-fol and the field. It is the issue of issues, and the solution of it is now on the verge of finding. The first steps have been taken, the entering wedge is set and a yeoman stroke is about to drive it home—therefore, I repeat: "It's Great to be a Georgian."

ARRANGEMENTS FOR WEEKLY POULTRY SALES AT REGISTER

Arrangements have been made with Goethe & Ellis of Savannah to buy chickens at Register every Monday between the hours of 9 and 2. The highest cash prices will be paid each week. Prices next Monday will be as follows: Friers 30 cents; hens 20 cents, roosters 10 cents. I will do the weighing and figuring and a representative of the firm will pay off. These weekly sales will probably be extended to other points in the county if this venture proves a success.

CHEVROLET HEAD SAYS MOTOR SALES WILL GROW

W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, predicts continued prosperity for the automotive industry during 1926.

"My opinion is that 1926 will be a good year in the automobile industry," he said.

"That there will be as many passenger cars sold at retail as in 1925."

"That there will be more trucks sold at retail than in 1925."

"That dealers will improve their merchandising methods and the dealers who do will increase their turnover."

"That used cars will have to be treated as merchandise and dealt in as such at fair prices and in running order."

"That dealers' improvements in shops and tools will help to reduce the maintenance cost of automobiles."

"That people will never stop buying good motor cars at the right price."

Sometimes we can't help feeling that quite a few people began life in an installment cradle and are going to end it in a partial-payment coffin.

 One of the toughest cold weather jobs is that of a fisherman. In the photo the steam trawler, "Swell" of Boston is from the Grand Banks at Boston with a New Year catch and wearing a coat of ice that was furnished by the sea and the wind, the coldest in many years.

REGISTER SCHOOL NOW IN HANDSOME BUILDING

SPRING TERM OPENS MONDAY
UNDER MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

The people of the Register school district are rejoicing today upon the completion and occupancy of their handsome new school building.

The opening of the school Monday marked the beginning of a new era for the school. The patrons turned out to rejoice and their friends turned out to felicitate them.

The opening exercises were directed in a happy manner by Rev. W. L. Huggins, who has been a resident of Register and a friend of the school for the past four years. Fitting talks were made by Hinton Booth, attorney, who assisted largely in the legal phases of the recent bond issue by which the new building was erected; by J. W. Williams, life-long resident of the community; by Rev. J. M. Foster, pastor of the Statesboro Methodist church; by J. V. Brunson, a patron of the school and Bulloch county member of the Georgia legislature; by John R. Godbee, secretary of the board of trustees of the school; by J. W. Powell, C. W. Anderson and M. O. Anderson, members of the board of trustees, and by Prof. Frank Lee, superintendent of the school.

The statement of Mr. Godbee disclosed that the new building, one of the most modern in the entire section, had been erected and equipped at a cost approximating $22,500. Bonds were floated for the construction to the amount of $25,000. These were sold at $1,200 above par, netting $26,120. There still remains in the treasury a balance around $3,000 with which to purchase additional furnishings.

The Register people are proud of their new school building, and they have a right to be. It is modern in every way, with an auditorium seating 650 equipped with individual seats. Individual heaters are installed in every class room; individual lockers are furnished for every pupil, and every room is amply lighted.

Register school embraces a wide territory, formerly comprising a number of country schools. The vote for bonds for the new building was practically unanimous, and the outlook for the school is highly pleasing.

BAPTISTS OF LEEFIELD TO BUILD NEW CHURCH

Members of the Leefield Baptist church are rejoicing and are making every effort to erect a house of worship at Leefield. At a meeting recently much enthusiasm was manifested and over one-half of the estimated cost of the building was pledged by the membership of the church alone. A plat of land was given by T. F. Lee near to the town in a good location.

Plans have been drawn and it is to be hoped that in the very near future material will be laid on the ground and ground broken for the new building.

FARMER IS DROWNED IN SHALLOW MILL POND

W. S. ANDERSON MEETS DEATH
WHILE OPENING WASTEWAY
AT FISH POND.

W. Shelton Anderson, well-known farmer of the Sinkhole district, was drowned in shallow water at his fish pond Monday afternoon.

The exact manner of Mr. Anderson's death is not known, there having been no eye witnesses. According to information received, he left his home about the middle of the afternoon to look after some matters about his place. Upon his failure to return, his family became alarmed and about 7:30 went in search. His body was found partly submerged in shallow water at the gate of his fish pond. Indications were that he had attempted to clear away some timbers that had obstructed the opening and that he fell into the water. His arm was caught in the timbers and he was unable to rise.

Mr. Anderson was 68 years of age. He is survived by his wife and twelve children. He was a brother of C. H. J. E. and J. J. E. Anderson of this city, and of Brooks Anderson who lives in the Sinkhole district.

Interment was at Ephesus church, near his home, Wednesday morning. Being directed by the Olliff Funeral Home of this city.

FIRE-WALKING ACT IS STILL MYSTERY

Observers Fail to Solve Tahitian Secret.

Papeete, Tahiti.—Despite investigations of competent observers, the famous fire-walking ceremony still remains a secret of a small company of natives in the Island of Raiatea.

The ceremony was given on this island recently for the first time in many years and outsiders were not excluded from witnessing any stage of the preparation of the fire pit.

When the proper time comes and the celebrants pass through the fire, any bystander asking permission may go through beside them without discomfort.

Outsiders who have passed through the fire say they felt no sensation of heat except on the face, although, when standing outside, the radiation made the pit difficult to approach.

Those trying to solve the mystery have pulled out a large stone from the pit while the ceremony was in progress and thrown it into a pail of water. The water would go up in steam. Some also have tried crawling to the edge of the pit and, touching one of the white stones with the finger. They were rewarded with ugly burns.

Scientists who have seen the fire-walking have propounded a number of theories, but practical tests always failed to establish such explanations.

The ceremony, harking back to heathen times and the worship of the old gods, is frowned on by the missionaries and the Christians among the natives. Hence it is seldom performed, even in Raiatea, the place of its origin.

Every young lady has the God-given right to choose a husband. The only advice we have to offer is that they be careful as to whose husband they choose.

A. Downs, president of the Central of Georgia, will be given.

Patrons and friends of the Central are invited to tune in and hear the concert.

ROUNTREE HOTEL OPENS UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The Rountree Hotel, which for the past year has been conducted as a rooming annex to the Jackel Hotel, opened during the week under the management of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. B. Rimes. Mr. and Mrs. Rimes will continue their cafe, which they have conducted for several years. The new hotel will enable them to care for their growing business.

Most Children Have Rickets, Survey Shows

Washington.—Secretary of Labor Davis reports that a preliminary statement of the first 18 months' work in the study of a practical method of community control of rickets conducted by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor indicates that 90 per cent of infants develop rickets in its mildest form during the early months of life.

The statement, contained in Secretary Davis' annual report, says: "This has been definitely demonstrated in the course of the study by X-ray photographs of the infants' bones taken at monthly intervals. If this mild form of rickets does not progress to a more severe degree, it has no apparent effect on the infant's general health."

"The investigation has shown that under the influence of cod liver oil and direct sunlight this mild degree of rickets can be completely controlled. Without the use of these measures, rickets will advance to a moderate or marked degree of severity in approximately 25 per cent of the children with resulting deformities and lowered resistance to infection."

Utah Nuts Reforesting Denuded Persian Lands

Ogden, Utah.—Twenty-five cents worth of pine nuts purchased three years ago from a local fruit store are helping reforest Persia.

Three years ago, H. Rieben, at Tabriz, wrote F. S. Baker, of the forest service headquarters, asking for tree seeds. He was experimenting to find a species adapted for Persia.

Baker had no seed at hand, but he went to a neighboring fruit store and bought 25 cents' worth of pine nuts, sent them to Rieben and forgot the matter.

Recently, he received another letter from Rieben reporting that the seed had thrived and asking more of the same variety.

Mr. Baker has invested another 25 cents and the fruit store product is on its way to Tabriz.

DESIGNATED TO LEAD HARVEST CAMPAIGN

BY APPOINTMENT OF GOVERNOR, MRS. J. J. ZETTEROWER WILL PUSH SALE OF COINS.

Governor Clifford Walker has appointed Mrs. J. J. Zetterower chairman of the Harvest Campaign in Bulloch county to complete the sale of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial coins. The local U. D. C., of which Mrs. Julian C. Lane is president, is strongly in sympathy with the Stone Mountain movement, and is expected to lend every possible assistance.

The quota for this county in the Harvest Campaign is 1,262, and it is hoped that by February 1st this quota will have been reached.

An appreciation contest will be held in Bulloch county, in which will be entered young ladies to sell coins, and the two young ladies who sell the most coins this month will be entertained in Atlanta at the Governor's ball early in February. The young lady who sells the most will also be awarded a gold-mounted lavalliere coin by the governor, and the next in sales will receive a silver-mounted one, each bearing a special number setting it apart from other coins. Both young women will also be given certificates bearing the signature of the governor and the seal of the state, something that can with pride be handed down to future generations, along with the lavalliere.

A special numbered coin will be auctioned in the city, probably by the Chamber of Commerce at one of its dinners. Each county in Georgia has been allotted one of these special coins, as in other states, and one coin sold recently for $1,500, another for $1,300, and several for $500. Others have sold for only a few dollars.

Friends of the Memorial set forth that we are really too close to the vast undertaking to appreciate its great significance, and that we of the South hardly yet understand the true import of the strikingly generous act of a republican congress in unanimously authorizing the minting of a coin to the valor of the soldiers of the South.

Loyal Southerners and Georgians are being requested to back up this movement so that the coins minted will not have to be returned to the republican congress with the excuse that the South does not yet possess the appreciation of a noble generosity. Therefore, the Appreciation contest.

IT GENERALLY PAYS

When people tire of discussing the weather, or the clothes the women are wearing—or failing to wear—they can always find a live

topic of conversation in a discussion of whether or not farming pays.

We have examples right around home

to show that it does pay, when followed along certain lines, and we also have examples to the contrary.

But failure to make it pay is not a reflection on farming as a business.

Start any two men in the same business and you'll find at the end of the year one will have made a greater profit than the other, handling exactly the same kind of goods or manufacturing identically the same kind of article. Success in farming, like most everything else, comes from knowing how.

Here is an example from Timm-

Vernon, we found in an eastern paper a few days ago. On a hill farm of 11 acres two brothers made in 1925 a net profit of $10,000. They bought the farm on credit a few years ago and fertilized it heavily.

In 1924 they raised potatoes securing a yield of 500 bushels to the acre.

This year, without hired help, they again planted potatoes, and the yield was over 400 bushels to the acre.

Of course, potatoes are unusually high this season, but it proves that if a man knows his business, and studies its needs and watches expenses closely, he can make old mother earth yield him a profit. The main trouble is that farmers do not do enough experimenting. Most of them live and die without knowing what their soil is best adapted to.

There are plenty of money crops besides potatoes, just as there are millions of acres that could be made to yield a profit if planted to the things

they are best, by nature, fitted to grow.

THE "CHAIN" SHARKS

The Postoffice Department is warning patrons of the postoffice to be on their guard for fraudulent mail-order

"chain letters." Some years ago the department had difficulty in stopping

"chain letters" that swamped the mails and did no one any good, even though the letters were only a fad

and did not request money.

But now the "chain letter" is being worked by schemers to separate an always gullible public from its hard-earned coin. If you get an offer of "bargain clothing or household furnishings," with the statement that you can get it at such a price on condition that you send one of the order blanks enclosed to each of three (or more) friends, asking them to also take advantage of it—watch your step. Each friend, of course, is expected to pass the order on to three of his or her friends, so you can readily see how fast it would mount up. And while it may be but a few cents, or a few dollars, from you, you are unwittingly aiding in promoting a scheme that brings thousands of replies in the course of a year. Somebody makes rich through their ability to make you their

"easy mark."

Watch out for these "chain" schemes. Be sensible in your buying and in the end you will be happier,

because you will not have wasted

your money fattening the purse of

THE PRINTED WORD

The printed word has an enormous power over the public mind. If people hear by word of mouth some report that seems at first thought unlikely, they are disposed to reject it.

But if they see the thing printed in a newspaper they accept it as the truth. Few readers realize, perhaps,

just how much time newspaper people spend running down rumors, yet

it is because newspapers are careful to get the facts that what they print is accepted as true. The ability of the printed word to influence the public is demonstrated in the power of advertising. Just as people shape their opinions and actions largely by the printed word, so their habits of buying home and personal supplies

are shaped largely by the printed word of the newspaper advertising.

If a business concern uses the printed word to make some misleading offer to the public, the effect of such misuses will plague that business for a long time. People who bought such misrepresented goods would take them back, and also tell their friends.

For that reason advertising is prepared with a regard for truth—and truth always pays.

WOMEN INVENTORS.

If you'd tell the average man that over 500 patents a year are granted to women inventors he would naturally suppose they were on household articles. And he would be surprised to know, as you will doubtless be that only about 50 per cent of the patents secured by women are for household equipment.

The other 50 per cent range from automatic pistols to train safety devices, with a good sprinkling of automobile and improvements. Quite a few women have invented agricultural implements now in general use.

Here, it seems, is a new field open to the fair sex. If they can't earn pin money in any other way they can put their brains to work along inventive lines to good advantage, because the patent office passes favorably on anything that is really worth while and never asks whether it was invented by a woman or a man.

About the only way for a king to get on the first page now is to be dead three thousand years.

Every time the bottom falls out of the stock market another class graduates in the school of experience.

There can't be a revolution in America. Not enough people over here are mad about the same thing.

We wonder if Mrs. Borah was able to find anything for Christmas that really pleased her senator husband.

This is a progressive age. The auto advertised a year ago as "absolutely perfect" is now greatly improved.

It appears now that the proper time to have bought coal and potatoes would have been about ten years ago.

Maybe the reason still more people are not going to Florida is because some of them are waiting for the clearance sale.

Shoulder Bouquet and

Scarf With Formal Dress

Of all the charming accessories

which go to make a lady's party frock

a vision of loveliness, perhaps the shoulder bouquet plays the most picturesque role. Indeed not to wear a flower or two posed upon the shoulder,

in the exception rather than the rule.

There is a flattering becomingness in these costume boutonnieres. That is why they have become so essential

a part of the evening costume. They are particularly entrancing when the sleeveless frock.

Another smart detail which "adds to the picture is the matching scarf.

The fact that it is made of the same material as the dress classes it as being a component part of the frock rather than an accessory. Its peculiar charm is that it suggests the new high-neck effect now so stylish (if correctly wrapped about the throat as the picture shows), yet in no way does it suffer from the correct décolleté.

"NEW," OR "ANOTHER?"
"A New Year," did you say?
It is the way
With men—who made the calendar and who Have changed it, too
It is "another" year for all—
There is a pertinent and timely call
For us (if many or a few)—
To "MAKE" this now a NEW,
A "really-truly" new, fresh year with
New life by every token, every sign!

GAME PRESERVES THROUGHOUT STATE

BOARD OF GAME AND FISH HAS PLAN OF INTEREST TO ALL GEORGIANS.

Within the near future the State board of game and fish plans to establish several game preserves throughout Georgia. The board has instructed the game and fish commissioner, Mr. Peter S. Twitty, to make a survey of the state with the view of selecting areas best adapted to this purpose. Mr. Twitty states that while it is the plan of the board to establish a score or more of small preserves over the state within the next two or three years, the board plans first to open one preserve in north Georgia, one in central Georgia, one in south Georgia, and perhaps one in the coast counties. The board does not expect to buy land for this purpose, but will lease it for periods of from five to twenty years, with privilege of renewal. Mr. Twitty states that tracts of from one thousand to three thousand acres will be most desirable, but smaller or larger tracts may be leased if conditions justify. He has already received numbers of offers from land owners in all parts of Georgia and some very desirable tracts have been tendered the board on liberal terms. However, he states that the board does not intend to make any lease until the people of each county in the state have had an opportunity to submit propositions, if they so desire. Persons who own or control large tracts of land suitable for game preserves and who are willing to turn them over to the state on liberal terms for this purpose should communicate with Mr. Twitty immediately, informing him of the size of the tract, the amount of game cover thereon, as well as the cultivatable acreage, the number and description of the streams on the land and other information, giving a fair idea of the premises. It is expected that Mr. Twitty and members of the board will personally inspect any tract before it is selected as a game preserve but a full description of the land should be given in any letter to the department.

"There are coming almost daily," says Mr. Bloodworth, "requests by widows, orphans and dependent parents for aid in securing benefits under the Adjusted Compensation Act where the veteran has not made application. Many of the applicants are in needy circumstances and especially so after the veteran's death on which account additional expense has been incurred. These cases are pitiful but they are made more so when it is realized that had the veteran made valid application before death the money he would have been two and a half times as much and this payable in one sum."

"I would like to dispel an impression that prevails that the larger benefits can be received just so the veteran signs the application blank before death. A recent ruling by the Controller General of the United States makes it essential that the application be received by the Adjutant General's Office or the Bureau of Navigation before the veteran's death for his application to be valid. Besides the much larger amount of money received by making valid application, such application in loco parentis no benefit at all is received. Unless the veteran himself applies, after his death only his wife or child or a dependent parent can receive the smaller sum with preference in the order named. The word parent includes a person who stood in loco parentis to the veteran for a year or more before his entering service. Any one can be designated as beneficiary by the veteran and thus brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts and other relatives and even friends can receive the larger benefits."

Blank applications and further information will be furnished by the Service Bureau, 304 State Capitol, Atlanta.

Mr. Enneis, who opened his grocery during the past fall, will give his time in future exclusively to his tobacconist agency. Mr. Moore, who sold to Dr. Lane, will go to Lakeland, Fla., where he will engage in a similar business. In fact, the deal was simply an exchange between Mr. Moore and Dr. Lane, the latter having for some time been interested in business with Joe B. Martin, formerly of Statesboro, at that place.

Mr. Robinson has been until recently with the Goff Grocery Company in their shipping department.

The introduction of these specialties conflicts in no way with the company's policy of refraining from dictating to a purchaser the amount of equipment he must buy with his car. Those to whom economy is the principal consideration will in future, as in the past, be able to purchase Ford cars in which the standard equipment will include only those features essential to satisfactory operation. On the other hand, to those who are interested in the completely appointed car will be available specialties produced according to the same standards of quality which are incorporated in the car itself.

APPLY FOR BENEFITS WHILE VET IS ALIVE

MAXIMUM BENEFITS CAN ONLY BE OBTAINED BY PROMPT APPLICATION.

Atlanta, Jan. 10.—Application for Adjusted Compensation benefits must be filed with the proper department before the veteran's death for the beneficiaries to receive the maximum benefit. J. G. C. Bloodworth, Jr., Director of the Service Bureau, State of Georgia, pointed out the case of a Georgia veteran who made his application on his death bed and whose widow can only receive now $625.00 in ten equal quarterly installments of $62.50; whereas had the application been received by the Adjutant General's Office before the veteran's death the benefit would have been $1,550.00 in one lump sum.

DRIVE NEXT WEEK TO COMPLETE SALE OF COINS

The final drive to complete the sale of Bulloch county's quota of Memorial coins will begin next Monday and will run throughout the entire week unless the quota is reached before the end of the week.

The chairman of the Harvest Campaign for the county, by appointment of Governor Walker, is Mrs. J. J. Zetterover. She has formed committees throughout the various counties who will have active charge of the sale of coins. These committees for the county are:

Statesboro—Misses Arleen Zetterover, Annie Smith and Elizabeth Blitch.

Port—Misses Eunice Parsons and Claudia Smith.

Brooklet—Mrs. J. M. McElveen, Mrs. Remer Warnock.

Stilton—Misses Lucile Brannen and Elizabeth Brown.

Register—Misses Janie Lou Brannen and Janie Lee Lanier.

The quota for Bulloch county is 1,200 coins. The intrinsic value of the coins is 50 cents each. They will be sold at $1.00 each, giving a net profit of $600 for the Memorial fund.

The two young ladies who sell the largest amount in Bulloch county will be honor guests at a ball to be given by the governor next month.

NEW EXPLOSIVE OFFERED FOR FARMERS' BENEFIT

The United States bureau of public roads has an explosive called pyroly which is being distributed to the farmers of the state for agricultural purposes through county agents.

This material is cartridge in six ounce sticks which have approximately the same strength as an eight ounce stick of 20 cent dynamite. It is packed 50 pounds to the box and contains 135 sticks.

The cost of this material is $9.50 per hundred f. o. b. nearest shipping point. There is a car now stored at Wrightsville, from which orders for this section will be shipped. No. 6 caps will be furnished free at the rate of one cap for each pound of material.

Those interested in this material will please give their orders to County Agent E. P. Josey. He has already ordered 800 pounds for farmers of Bulloch county.

W. E. Brouch, specialist in agricultural engineering, will give a demonstration in blowing stumps with pyroly at W. L. Loeb's place, 6 miles east of Statesboro, on Monday, Jan. 18th, in the morning. All those interested will please attend.

E. P. JOSEY, County Agent.

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR TRUCK THIS SEASON

Alfred Dorman, the wholesale produce dealer, has been studying the conditions some during the past few weeks as touching truck growing for market, and expresses the belief that our farmers will do well to give some little attention to the truck business the coming spring. A letter received by him from Geo. L. Sands, a well known grower of truck at John's Island, S. C., says:

"I would advise you to give the matter some little attention to the truck business the coming spring. A letter received by him from Geo. L. Sands, a well known grower of truck at John's Island, S. C., says:
